NOTE: All 36 sessions are set at a maximum of 2 – 2 ½ hours. However, it is anticipated that few, if any, will last that long, with the possible exception of the role play sessions. All sessions are set to run from either 2.30pm - 4.3pm or 5.30pm - 8pm respectively. Lecturers have the option of finishing early, where the session is completed, or of extending the session to the finish time, should questions or discussions dictate a longer session is necessary. All lecturers who anticipate their session will require more than 2 ½ hours without a break should contact Esther McGuinness in advance. All sessions, except on-site sessions at the LRA and OITFET, will take place at the York Street Belfast Campus of Ulster University. * In our final session of the course, Gareth Walls discusses equal pay, GPG reporting, corporate immigration, important case law and other developments to watch out for in 2020 onwards.
